

Tias Basu is a PhD student and a Senior Research Fellow at the Department of Comparative Literature, Jadavpur University. Her doctoral work focuses on the history of literary studies in India. She has worked as a Research Fellow in The Centre for Translation of Indian Literatures, Jadavpur University, in a project on archiving and translating marginalised literatures. Her current research interests are literary historiography, comparative Indian literature, literary epistemology and institutional history.