

Are you looking to publish your research in high-impact journals indexed by Scopus?

Join our comprehensive workshop designed for early-career researchers, postgraduate students, and academic professionals eager to navigate the publishing process with confidence. This hands-on session will equip participants with the knowledge, tools, and strategies required to publish in reputable Scopus-indexed journals.

Choosing the right journal is a critical step in the publication process. A mismatch may delay or derail the impact of your research. This practical workshop is designed to empower researchers with strategic insights and practical tools to select journals that align with their research goals and maximize the chances of acceptance. Whether you are a postgraduate student, an early-career academic, or a seasoned researcher, this session will help you publish smarter—not just harder.

What You'll Learn

- Understanding different types of academic journals.
- Introduction to Scopus and its significance in academia.
- Relevance of ABDC List.
- Pitching your manuscript to the right journal.
- Common reasons for rejection—and how to avoid them.
